SOCI-2123. Introduction to Sociology of Globalization

SOCI-2443. Racialization, Racism & Colonialism

... the process of racialization, racism, and colonialism is a complex and dynamic one that involves the construction of racial and ethnic identities and the power relations that shape these identities. This process is often driven by economic and political interests, and it can have significant impacts on the lives of individuals and communities. The study of racialization, racism, and colonialism is essential for understanding the social and historical context of these phenomena and for developing strategies to address them.

SOCI-2513. Sociology of Communication

The sociology of communication examines the relationship between communication and society. It explores how communication shapes social structures and how social structures influence communication. This field of study is particularly relevant in the context of mass media, digital communication, and globalization. The sociology of communication is a multidisciplinary field that draws on theories and methods from sociology, communication studies, and other disciplines.

SOCI-2523. Sociology of Aging (GEND) (GERO 2113)

The sociology of aging (GEND) (GERO 2113) examines the social and cultural contexts of aging. It explores how aging is experienced and how it is shaped by social and cultural factors. This field of study is particularly relevant in the context of population aging, ageism, and the social and economic challenges of aging. The sociology of aging (GEND) (GERO 2113) is a multidisciplinary field that draws on theories and methods from sociology, gerontology, and other disciplines.
